Animal Pest Management Services, Inc. is Southern California's leading authority on precision pest management for effectively solving animal and insect pest problems in our urban environment. Our resident biologists, are experts on Animal and Insect Damage Management and Environmental Impact Assessment. They have developed state-of-the-art precision pest management programs, that target the pest while ensuring that the most humane and ecologically sound methods are used with the smallest human and chemical footprint possible.

All of our technicians are State Certified Pesticide Applicators, state licensed in trapping and extensively trained in pest identification, damage recognition, management methods, and safety.

ANIMAL OR INSECT PROBLEMS?

Animals are an important part of our environment, and add to the beauty of our world in the proper wild settings. However, wildlife can become destructive pests damaging landscaped areas, homes and other buildings, and commonly contribute to erosion, slope failure and water loss. Additionally, they often carry diseases such as: Bubonic Plague, Murine Typhus, Rabies, Histoplasmosis, Salmonella (food poisoning), Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever and others.

Insects greatly outnumber mammals but most are beneficial. However, there are a few nuisance pests that can manage to invade your home and prove to be harmful with a bite or sting.

LET US SOLVE YOUR ANIMAL & INSECT PEST PROBLEMS.

If any wildlife or insect problems have caused you stress or frustration, you are part of a growing number of unhappy citizens that are facing an increase in animal & insect pest problems. At the same time, governmental agencies are having to reduce this type of service due to financial constraints, a shortage of qualified personnel, and liability problems.
