Live Trapping Small Animals

- Raccoons, Opossums and Skunks can be a nuisance in landscaping and around homes by causing damage to turf, shrubs and even structures
- They are nocturnal mammals that have omnivorous eating habits
- All are potential carriers of diseases, such as rabies and parasites, which are transmittable to humans and pets
- Trapping and exclusion are the easiest ways to remove the problem pest without disturbing non-target animals
- Habitat modification and sanitation are also important control measures that can help deter animals from frequenting yards and homes
